

INTERIOR INFORMATION: HOME HELPERS

Fionnula Moulton, interior contract designer to the stars, has a love for fashion. And vice versa. You want fashionista proof? Well, she has acquired the exclusivity for the world-famous fashion range of Fendi interiors furnishing. "It is all about introducing the ultimate fashion styling into your home," ab fab Fionnula says from her base in Dundrum, beside Harvey Nicks.

The Fendi range can be custom-made to the client's taste. For example, the base of a leather sofa can be upholstered from a choice of fabrics including leathers in a wide range of textures — lizard, pony, crocodile or iguana, say, in silver, gold, bronze or any other colour.

"The products are all made to order and are updated every six months," says Fionnula. "Fendi is a look that can be custom-made to suit any project for your private home, showhouse, apartment or hotel fitout."

Fionnula gives one-to-one consultations with each client and helps them design a complete look for each room, using a mixture of silks, velvets, leathers, wood and chrome, to say nothing of chandeliers, curtains, sofas, beds, cushions, rugs, towels, bed linen and candles.

She has undertaken many projects in Ireland and abroad for Irish investors and developers as well as personal projects for private clients. She specialises in contract turnkey interior fitouts for international developers.
